Build Your Own Mini-Golf Course

A game of miniature golf is a jolly fun way to spend time with the entire family! When you create your own course at home, you can play any time! Be sure to print out your own Jolly Roger® Score Card to keep track of the winner!”

Materials

Use household items to build your course:

Soda cartons

Books for ramps

Oatmeal containers

Food cans or boxes for obstacles

Paper cups

Additional Items

Painters tape to mark the course

Golf balls or other small balls

Golf putters or similar

How to Play

1. Design Your Course: No design is too crazy! Start by brainstorming ideas for your course, take turns sharing your ideas, talk about other mini-golf courses that you have played, and why you enjoyed them. Figure out ways to use items from around the house to build your course, and draw how it would look once complete.

2. Build Your Course: With permission, begin to gather items from around the house to build your course. Use what you find in your home to create a variety of holes with interesting obstacles and build!

3. Print Your Scorecard: Now that your course is set, print out your Jolly Roger Scorecard to keep track of who's winning. For each hole, record the number of putts that it takes to get the ball in the cup. Or, check off each box after you play each hole. Put one person in charge of the scorecard, and take turns as you play. Or, give each player his or her own scorecard to keep track.

4. Play!: Get started and play! Be sure to share photos of your fun and tag Jolly Roger® Amusement Parks on Facebook so we can see your amazing creations!”
